INTRODUCTION

1132047

Few families in the United States can trace an authentic lineage backward through 400 years as do the Bebouts. This record is one in which we may take a justifiable pride.

From our family tree there are suspended no Presidents, no conquering generals, and no great literary lights; but there are a vast multitude of reliable, creative men of fine character and of good, noble women. We include as kinsmen many teachers, doctors, lawyers, financiers, industrialists, agriculturalists, skilled mechanics, and workers in various fields. The Bebouts constitute a cross section of the best citizens in America.

This first attempt to trace the genealogy of the Bebout family has consumed the spare time of myself and my collaborators for a period of more than ten years. It has been a labor of love full of surprises and delightful human contacts. The early portion is based on a careful study of the records, and the later facts were gleaned from family Bibles, cemeteries, wills, land papers and family letters, reported by many members of the clan. The record is far from complete, but enough guidance is given to enable interested members of the family to complete their lines by supplying missing data and to correct errors in names and dates. I shall be glad to serve as custodian of this supplementary material for use in a revised edition of the book.

The arabic numerals and the bracketed letters and numbers on the left hand side of the pages indicate the sequence in which names are used and should assist in tracing various branches of the family. For individuals the Index should be used. The small elevated figures at the right of given names indicate the generation from the founder of the Bebouts in the New World.

Special thanks are due to Mr. William J. Hoffman, associated with the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society, for contributing the information on the pre-American Bebouts; and to Mrs. Sarah B. Paddock of Mount Vernon, Ohio, who assembled most of the information about the Bebouts in Washington County, Pennsylvania, in Ohio, and to the westward. It is with gratitude that I recall many others who orally or in letters contributed details.

Richmond Book Co. — 5.00

This edition is limited to two hundred and fifty copies. Every Bebout family interested in its forbears should own a copy.

THE BEBOUT FAMILY IN FLANDERS

By William J. Hoffman

(Reprinted by permission from the *New York
Genealogical and Biographical Record* April, 1935)

The pre-American history of the family known in America by the name of BEBOUT takes us to the western part of the present Belgian kingdom, to that part more commonly known as Flanders.

Almost due south of the famous city of Bruges, west of Ghent (Gand) and at about an equal distance from each, is situated the small city of Thielt.

Of venerable age, Thielt is mentioned among the cities of Flanders as early as 1128, and received in 1172 the right to build its fortifications. The still existing city hall dates from the year 1200 and the old belfry of the guild hall from the same century. Like so many cities in that part of Belgium, Thielt was known as a center of the cloth industry for which Flanders was justly famous. In 1383, during the constant feuds of the Middle Ages, the burghers of Ghent burned the greater part of the city, a disaster from which it never fully recovered. Again, during the years 1575-85, the city suffered severely from the religious wars, the war for freedom which the Netherlands was waging against Spain. During the succeeding centuries the city grew gradually less in importance and had at the end of the 18th century barely 6,000 inhabitants.*

It was from Thielt that the progenitor of the American family of Bebout came to New Netherland. There his father had lived and died and there his ancestors lived for many generations.

In the following article several localities in and around Thielt will be mentioned, and in order to give a picture of the local conditions it might be stated here that the territory under the jurisdiction of Thielt was divided into two main parts, Thielt-Binnen, the city proper, and Thielt-Buiten, the outlying district. This outlying district was subdivided into hoeken (corners). De roede of Thielt, a subdivision of the casselry (chancellery) of Courtray, consisted of ten hoeken, and each hoek was divided again into zerken. One of these hoeken was the Kapellehoek, and three of its eleven zerken were the Hooge Bilkbosch, de Veldacker and the Schuyerskapelle (Schuyfferskapelle). The immediate ancestors of the Bebout family under consideration lived in the last-named outlying districts. From a poster dated 1883, we learn that in that year at a public auction were put up for sale four hectaren (abt. 8 acres) of rye and four hectaren of wheat, standing on the Hofstede het goed te Bibauw (the estate named Bibauw) at Schuyfferskapelle.

The family, which in former centuries bore the surname BIBAU (pronounced Beebow—the modern Dutch orthography is Bybau), must have been living for many generations in Thielt and vicinity.

In 1380 HEMERYCK BIBAU is mentioned as the owner of a house at Thielt.

On March 20, 1381, the tisserand (weaver) OLIVIER BIBAU is mentioned in Bruges.*

In 1427 JAN BIBAU is a schepen of Thielt; JAN BIBAU FILIUS HENRICX is in 1431 tax collector (ontvanger) of Thielt.

In 1445 the city of Bruges sued GUILLAUME BIBAU of Rijssel (Lille) in connection with its privilege of "the staple," the wool trade.†

In 1438-39 the Burgomaster of Thielt is JOES BIBAU, and in 1490 one of the schepens is ETIENNE (STEVIN) BIBAU.‡

In 1542 PIETER BIBAU is schepen of Thielt, and in 1592 GUILLAM BIBAU is burgomaster of the city.

The name Bibau, in its variety of spelling, is a rather unusual one, and it may therefore be of interest to call attention to a family named BIBAUS (pronounced the same as Bibau), which was settled not only in Flanders, but was also represented at Bruges and Thielt. The progenitor of this family was CHRÉTIEN BIBAUS, who is said to have been a native of Mecklenburg serving in the army of the King of Denmark. He settled in Bruges, where he joined the milice (militia, that is became a burgher) in 1461. He married a local girl of one of the prominent families of the city, ANTOINETTE VAN NIEUWENHOVE. Of their two sons, Guillaume Bibautius (he latinized his name), born at Thielt about 1484, became the thirty-fifth Général or head of the Carthusian order of monks. He died July 24, 1535, at the headquarters of this order—of wide renown for the manufacture of the famous cordial of the name—la Grande Chartreuse in Dauphiné, France. The other son, Chrétien, was upper bailiff (grand bailli) of Thielt in 1525 and married at Bruges in 1492 Jeanne de Ricx. Of his children Pierre remained at Bruges and Jean Baptiste became commissary of war for the King of Spain in the Netherlands. He settled in Limburg and became the ancestor of a family that belonged to the nobility of the Holy Roman Empire, known as DE BIBAUS.§

Although the progenitor of the foregoing family is said to have come to Flanders at a time subsequent to the period in which the name Bibau is already found there, the fact that this family appears also at Bruges and Thielt is of decided interest.

A family named BIBAUD of French origin is mentioned in Haag, La France Protestante, and also in Baird, Huguenot Emigration to America, vol. I:118. François Bibaud, bapt. in 1642, son of François Bibaud of la Rochelle, was living in Quebec in 1671.

In the Netherlands the following members of a BIBAU(D) family, as yet not placed in the genealogy, have been noted. Bapt. in the Walloon ch. at Amsterdam, Sept. 26, 1657, Jean son of Jean Bibau en Mary Fère. Henri

The proven ancestor of the family is:

1. ALEXANDER BIBAU, who lived in or near Thielt and died prior to Aug. 1582. This follows from an inventory dated April 30, 1596 (City Arch. Thielt, weeserye or orphan-chamber) in which is also included the inventory of Sander's (Alexander's) daughter-in-law, Betkin Neeryncx, as of 1582, in which is mentioned the sterfhuis, house or estate of the deceased Sander Bibau. From the inventory it appears that Sander was the owner at Vossepitte under Sweveseele of a dwelling, woodland, 36 measures of land under cultivation, a parcel of marshland and a field. The property was mortgaged to Jacob de Keukelaer.

His wife's name was in all probability JENNEKE SMEYERS, who had also died prior to 1582; for again according to the same inventory, which is a most important document for the determination of the older generations, Sander's son Symoen had sold the property of the late Jenneken Smeyers, situated at Ruysselede (in the parish of Ruusle), which consisted of een meerschelken, groot twee lijn (small marsh of 100 sq. rods), and a parcel of land as measured by the surveyor Jan Vrombout on Aug. 25, 1581. He had an interest in this property on account of his mother's death. (It does not state specifically that Jenneke Smeyers is this mother, although there is hardly any doubt that this is the case.)

Sander Bibau must have had 8 children, for his son Symoen inherits 1/8 part of the property at Vossepitte, mentioned before.

Children of Sander Bibau and (Jenneken Smeyers?):

+2. SYMOEN BYBAU, to follow.

3. MAEYKE BYBAU, mentioned as Symoen's sister in the inventory.

4. LEENTKEN BYBAU, mentioned as Symoen's sister in the inventory.

5. ?CORNELIS BYBAU. In the inventory are mentioned the heirs of Cornelis Bybau.

6. ?GRITKIN (MARGARET) BYBAU. Mentioned in the inventory, without any indication of the relationship.

2. SYMOEN BIBAU (son of Alexander, No. 1). He was married twice, (1) to BETKIN NEERYNCX, dau. of Daniel. She died in August, 1582, which is proven by the inventory of her estate made by Symoen's second wife on April 30, 1596, in which it is stated that Symoen had not made the inventory at the time of Betkin Neeryncx's death in 1582, dóor de trouble van oirloghe (on account of the war). He mar. (2) ANNA (JANNEKEN or TANNEKEN) WATERLOOS, dau. of Anthoni. From the inventory already quoted several times, we learn further that Symoen had died before April 30, 1596 (probably shortly before that date); and had left two minor children, Symoentken and Janneken, both children by his first wife. The estate owes money borrowed for Symoen's ransom when he was a prisoner at Ghent in 1580, possibly for political reasons during the war. The estate was not "accepted" by the orphans, as these according to Dutch law would become responsible for all debts of the estate even in case the estate should prove to be insolvent. The war was ravaging Flanders, and it would seem that Symoen Bybau was one of the unfortunate victims of the vicissitudes of the time. Anna Waterloos d. Thielt Aug. 21, 1636.

Son of Symoen Bibau and Betkin Neeryncx:

7. SYMOEN BIBAU, son of Symoen Bibau and Betkin Neeryncx, was born at Thielt prior to 1582, and was in 1589 still a minor, which follows from the above-quoted inventory. He married CATHARINA, whose surname is not as yet evident from the records. He lived at first in the Bilkbosch district of Thielt, for according to a register of the Armendissh (collection for the poor) he was a collector for the Bilkbosch district from Bamesse (October 1),* 1622 to Bamesse 1624. Here he was the owner of eene behuisde en beplante hofstede (a dwelling and land under cultivation), where he undoubtedly lived. (Inv. of estate of his son Jasper, who inherited this property, see below.) He was also the owner of property under Moerkerke in county Middelburgh, Flanders (not the city of Middelburg in Zealand, Netherlands). This is proved by a document to be quoted later. And near there, Bewesten Eede (to the west of Eede), also in county Middelburgh, Flanders, he was the owner of additional property as follows from a document mentioned under No. 11 (Magdaleentje Bibau).

In addition to the above holdings he was the tenant-in-tenure near Thielt, under the jurisdiction of the court-of-tenure of Pytthem, of a parcel of marshland described as follows: Ic Lxx I Roen, bounded to the S. E. by the Lembrouckmersch, to the N. by the marsh of Jan Symays and to the S. E. by the property of Pieter de Cueninx. This property is described in the inventory of the estate of Jasper Bibau (Symoen's son), dated Dec. 5, 1655 (Municipal Arch. of Thielt), in which it is stated that Jasper had succeeded his father as holder. This property is of especial interest as it descended to the American progenitor as Oudste hoir fidaal, heir in the oldest line of succession, who, however, as we will see, disposed of it in favor of his nephew (p. 111).

From a record of the year 1629† we learn that the history of Simeon Bibau and his family has become linked with the great struggle for religious and political liberty for which the Netherlands—North and South—formed the stage. Among the many important Protestant sects which had their origin during the time of the Reformation are the Baptists. In the Netherlands they were often called Mennonists or Menists (Mennonites) after one of their leaders, Menno Simons, born in 1492, who in 1536, when a priest at Witmarsum, Friesland, left the church of Rome to become a leader of the Baptist brethren. The excesses committed in 1535 in Amsterdam by the Anabaptists, and especially those in Munster, Westphalia, under the leadership of the ill-famed Jan van Leyden, gave at first an unwarranted bad reputation to the entire movement. Differences in dogma resulting in the setting up of many rival congregations, added to the confusion. But the followers of the Baptist sect increased rapidly in numbers, and in the Netherlands as elsewhere they may proudly point to a history of artistic, scientific and educational as well as commercial achievement. During the sixteenth century the movement spread rapidly to the western part of Germany and also especially to the northeastern part of the then Southern Netherlands (Flanders).

In the late spring of 1604, during the campaign in Flanders undertaken by Prince Maurice of Orange-Nassau for the relief of Ostend, which by then had been besieged during a period of four years, the well fortified city of Aardenburg surrendered to the Prince. Together with other cities, among these the important fortress of Sluys, it was added to the territory of the province of Zealand and therefore to the cause of religious and political liberty for which the united seven northern provinces were waging war with Spain.

This part of the province, called in Dutch Zeeuwsch Vlaanderen (Zealand Flanders), is part of the southern mainland and borders to the south on the Belgian province of Flanders. It became a haven of refuge for those who wanted to escape the religious and political persecution by the Spanish authorities who ruled the Southern Netherlands (Belgium of to-day). The frontier was the goal for the oppressed. Once it had been crossed, no doubt in many instances after heartrending experiences, the promised land was reached in which one could worship according to one's conscience.

Bamesse*, St. Baaf or St. Bavo's day, October 1, the usual day on which tithes and rent were paid.

†Janssen and Dale, Bijdragen tot de oudheidkunde en geschiedenis van Zeeuwsch Vlaanderen, Vols. V:193 and VI; Blaupot ten Cate, Geschiedenis der Doopsgezinden in Holland, Zeeland, Utrecht en Gelderland, I:216.

As soon as this territory had been added to the Dutch Republic in 1604, refugees from all parts of the Southern Netherlands crossed its borders. Among those were numerous Baptists, who, as we have already told, had become quite numerous in the neighboring county of Flanders. Due no doubt to the extra safety which a fortified town offered, many of these Baptist refugees had chosen the city of Aardenburg as their new residence. The first congregation, a small one, gathered here in 1614. Although freedom of worship was guaranteed—for the Baptists this had happened in 1572 by proclamation of William the Silent—those not belonging to the Dutch Reformed church or its affiliates, the Walloon and the Presbyterian churches, had to cope with many difficulties. They were not allowed the use of a church building, but had to conduct their services in a private house, as was the case with the Pilgrims at Leyden. Added to this, some of the tenets of their religion which forbade the taking of an oath and the carrying of weapons, brought them into conflict with the authorities, the latter rule especially in connection with their required services in the civic guard of the city. Near Aardenburg was a polder, a drained piece of land which had been reclaimed and surrounded by a dike. It was called the Biezenpolder, biezen being the Dutch word for reeds. It was in this fertile land that the Baptists founded their colony and built their meeting house (vermaenhuis, admonition house). The Baptist dike is today the only reminder of the old history. This settlement attracted new members from far distant parts. They came from Kortrijk (Courtray), from the neighborhood of Bruges and Ghent (Gand), from the Land van Waes, from Thielt and other localities. They arrived in such numbers that the Spanish government became alarmed at this emigration of a considerable number of industrious and in several cases rich subjects. We have record that Isabella of Austria, the de facto ruler of the Southern Netherlands, in the year 1629 called the attention of the provincial estates of Flanders to this state of affairs. They made a report on the condition in Aardenburg. The congregation had just built "une grande maison ou grange." Jacques de Maldegheem, a well-known preacher, was their leader. On several occasions general meetings were held there of members of the different Baptist colonies scattered over the province, who attended "avecq des besaches blues à quoi (comme le bruict est) ilz s'entrecognoisent" (wearing a blue sash in order to be recognized).

The fiscal advocate Michel de Gomicourt is ordered to start an investigation, which he in turn refers to the bailiffs of those territories still under Spanish control. Among those is "Jacques Michiels, Baillu der stede ende Graefschep van Middelburgh in Vlaenderen" (Bailiff of the city and count of Middelburgh in Flanders). This county was to the south of Aardenburg and to the north of Thielt. The bailiff reports that in accordance with the order he has summoned five inhabitants of Middelburgh, among these one Simeon Bibau, in order to satisfy the government and the priest of their good behavior. The first summons was issued August 25, 1629, and since that time these five inhabitants have left the county.

The Biezenpolder near Aardenburg was the goal of Simeon Bibau. For in the Hantboeck der Ghemeynte (ledger of the congregation), started in the year 1636, is entered among the 61 male members, Symoen Bybau, and among the 57 female members, Catelijne Biebaus, Madeleentje Biebaus and Mayken Biebaus.*

The family remained during eight generations identified with the city of Aardenburg.† They must have been among the brave defenders of the city—for on that occasion the Baptists took to arms—when in 1672, 40 soldiers and 175 burghers under command of ensign Elias Beekman, whose sword is still to be seen at the city hall, not only beat off 8,000 French soldiers bent on taking the town, but in addition to this were able to capture 620 prisoners of war.

Of Simeon's known eight children only two are accounted for in the membership list, Matie or Mayke and Magdalena. The other church member, Catalyna Bibaus, may have been Simeon's wife. That Simeon had joined the Aardenburg congregation some years prior to the date of the first membership list seems evident from the fact that his daughter Mayke, as a member of the Baptist congregation of Aardenburg, married there in 1634. Two sons, Jaspas Bibau, whose children were born at Thielt, and Jan, from whom the present family in the Netherlands descends, joined their father later and settled in the immediate vicinity of Aardenburg. Simeon's son Pieter Bibau, the ancestor of the American family, remained in Thielt.

Simeon Bibau died prior to July 17, 1647, for on that date, before Notary Public Cant at Sluys (inv. 1832 Middelburg Archives), Paulus Mehoude, farmer at Cadsand, for himself and as guardian of the orphans of the late Symon Bybau, gives power of attorney to Jan Bibau, farmer at Heyle, to collect the rents which are in arrears from Anth. Vinckers at Maldeghem on account of leased lands in the parish of Moerkerke and elsewhere.

This completes our information of Symoen Bibau.

Children of Symoen Bibau and Catharine. (As the baptismal registers—Roman Catholic, there was no Protestant church—do not start until 1616, the baptisms of the two youngest children are the only ones that have been recorded.)

8. i. JASPER BIBAU is undoubtedly the oldest son, for the inventory of his estate, dated Dec. 3, 1655 (Municipal Arch. Thielt) discloses that he had inherited the old homestead near Thielt and that he had succeeded his father as tenant-in-tenure of the property near Thielt, both described above. He was born prior to 1616 and died before Dec. 3, 1655 (the date of the inventory of his estate). On May 15, 1656, Paulus Mehoude, his brother-in-law, was appointed guardian over Daniel Aeme, Jasper's and Paulus's nephew, in his stead. Jasper lived first at Thielt, zerk Rollecot, and owned considerable property in that general vicinity. Here his children were born, but in 1652 he settled at Heyle, in the immediate vicinity of Aardenburg. His wife was TANNEKE LOOTEN(s), whom he married at Wingene in April, 1629.*

On the ledger of the Polder bewesten Eede, dating from after 1658, she is entered as the owner of property there under the name of vidua Jasper bybau. She is still living at Heyle in 1665, when she is taxed on an estate of £1,000.

Jasper and his wife had eight children, most of whom died either unmarried or at an early age. This branch of the family did not leave any descendants. Two of the children are, however, of interest to the history of the American family and will be mentioned.

- a. MAYKEN BIBAU born at Thielt, March 14, bap. March 17, 1630 (one of her sponsors was Pieter Bibau, the father of the American progenitor), bur. Aardenburg, Oct. 19, 1686. She mar. CLAES DE BAETS, who d. prior

*We shall meet this name again under No. 9. It is possibly the same family as mentioned in RECORD 57:376. This family, which became prominent in Amsterdam, Netherlands, descends from Dirck Loten, born at Hondschoote, Flanders, abt. 1545. He fled from there, as the story goes, carrying his brother's son (Nicholas, s. of Jacob L.) in a basket on his back. He finally settled at Aardenburg, where he was a brewer. He served the city of his adoption as a tax collector, but subsequently settled at Leyden, where he died a wealthy man. One of his descendants was Carel Loten, one of the early Directors and principal shareholder of the West India Company.

Dirck, just mentioned, left a son Dirck Loten of whom nothing further is known and who may possibly be connected with Dirck Looten who was in 1659 clerk in the Secretary's office in New Amsterdam and in 1661 commissary of stores. He mar. in New York in 1664 and is called at his marriage "j.m. from Rean (?)."

to Feb. 22, 1685. In her will made on that date bef. Not. Publ. Thomas Mattheusen at Sluis (State Arch. Middelburg, No. 1943), she leaves among many others a legacy of 200 Carolus guilders to Jan Bybau filius Pieter haren cousijn (cousin), the American founder. In addition to this legacy she leaves the land-in-tenure, held by her as successor to her father, also to her cousin, the American progenitor, as oudste hoir fidoal, as heir in the oldest line of succession (see No. 18). Other legacies were 100 pounds each to the poor of Sluis and Aardenburg, and the choice of four sheep from her herd to her shepherd. Pieter Beheydt and his wife Maria Bibau (the brother-in-law and sister of the American progenitor) were among her executors. She did not name any heirs, and upon payment of the legacies the estate was divided among her next of kin, among these the American progenitor.

- b. PIETER BIBAU, the son of Jasper, born at Thielt, settled also near Aardenburg at Heyle. He dealt in lumber, and on June 20, 1670, before the schepens of Aardenburg, Sr. Pieter Beheydt (see above) goes bond for him in the matter of the quality of the lumber used on the cap of the city mill at Aardenburg, when Pieter guarantees that the knots in the wood will not spread in twelve years. He mar. in 1668 TANNEKEN DE NOLFF from Sweveseele; at that time they both lived at Heyle. He died in 1674. They had two children, Symoen and Elisabeth, who both died in childhood. After the death of the parents, Aunt de Baets (see under "a") had taken care of these children by first boarding them out for one pound flemish for board and lodging each, and they also lived at her house for some time. It is told that Symoen was going to school, but was sickly and had to leave school at different times and was not able to work the horses of Aunt de Baets. He died when 14 years old.
- + 9. ii. PIETER BIBAU, of whom later. He is the father of the progenitor of of the American family.
10. iii. MAYKE BIBAU, mar. at Aardenburg (Baptist), Nov. 6, 1634, BARTHOLOMEUS DRYESSENS. Her brother Johannes Bibau is a witness at the marriage. Mayke died at Aardenburg, March 1, 1670, and this fact is entered in the death records of that city as "Matie Bybiu van d'ee (from Eede, a village near Aardenburg), filia Symoens, born at Thielt."
11. iv. MAGDALEENTJE BIBAU married JOOS AEME, a native of Ghent. He was a widower of MARGRIETE DE VOS, who after the death of Madeleentje Bibau married as his third wife JOSIJNTGEN VAN EEGHEN,* with whom he had made a pre-nuptial contract bef. Notary Public Cant at Sluys on October 11, 1652. Joos Aeme was a wine merchant, a man of substantial means and one of the leaders of the Baptist congregation at Aardenburg. The records of the Orphan Masters of Aardenburg contain data about this couple which also refer to her brother Pieter (the ancestor of the American family), and which therefore follow here.

*The van Eeghen family is one of the most prominent Baptist families originally living at Aardenburg. At present they are foremost in the financial and business world of Amsterdam. They intermarried several times at Aardenburg with the Beheydt family to whom the brother-in-law of the American progenitor of the Bebout family belonged (see No. 18). (Nederlandsche Leeuw 1918:226).

Brugge (Bruges), of which 16 1/2 measures of land in the parish of Moerkerke are one half of a property consisting of a house and land, the other half of which belongs to Pieter Bybau, the maternal uncle of the orphan.

Also in the wateringe bewesten Eede (in the drained and irrigated land to the west of Eede), near the corner south of the Bruggeweg (turnpike to Bruges) in the County of Middelburgh, a parcel of land large 10 measures and 5 rods, consisting of 5 parcels, which had come by inheritance and sale from the estate of the late Symon Bybau, the maternal grandfather of the orphan.

An entry in the inventory refers to Pieter Bybau living at Thielt, who owed money to Magdaleentje Bybau.

This record is of great value, as it establishes the descent of Symoen and his son Pieter, the American line.

12. v. ALEXANDER BIBAU is the first one of Symoen's children whose baptism has been recorded. Register of Roman Cath. Baptisms Thielt: Alexander ba. 13 Juli 1616 fil. Simon Bibau et Catherine uxoris eius. Suscipientibus Joe van Casteel et Margaretha de Bane.

13. vi. JAN BIBAU, from whom descends the family in the Netherlands. His descendant, Judge J. H. Bybau, president of the Court of Zutphen, Netherlands, has by his researches established the genealogy of these older generations, here published for the first time,* and has made it possible to establish definitely the ancestry of the American pioneer and founder of the Bebout family in the United States.†

Jan Bibau was bapt. in the Roman Cath. Church in Thielt on April 6, 1618: Johannes filius Simoen Bibau et Catharina uxoris eius; susc. Joes boesens et Catharina deeselincx. He married at Thielt Aug. 19, 1642, MAYKEN VAN MALE and is mentioned as living in the Polder bewesten Eede on 1665. They had a son Jan (bapt. in 1647 in the Reformed church), who was at first (at the time of his marriage in 1671) a soldier in the company of Captain van der Swalme and at his death is called ondercommies, assistant commissary of the army stores at Sluys (Prot. Not. Anth. Bestesloot, Aardenburg, inv. 426, March 20, 1692). His son, the surgeon Alexander Bybau of Aardenburg, is the ancestor of the family in the Netherlands.

14. vii. ELISABETH BIBAU married prior to 1648 PAULUS MEHOUDE. She and her husband sell in that year a parcel of land (Transport registers of Aardenburg). He is mentioned in a document quoted under Simoen, his wife's father, as the guardian of Simoen's minor children in the year 1647 and was undoubtedly already married to Elisabeth at that time. He and his wife lived at Zuidzande.

15. viii. SIMOEN BIABAU. It would seem from the records that there also was a son of this name of whom nothing further is known. He appears as a witness at the baptism of No. 16.

9. PIETER BIBAU, son of Symoen Bibau No. 7 and Catharine, born before 1616, was the only one of the children of Simoen Bibau who remained all his life at Thielt. He was, as had been his father before him, collector for the poor of the Bilkbosch district from 1644-1646 (listed as Pieter Bibau zone van Simoen). He is the father of the progenitor of the American family. He married twice. His first wife was MARIA VERKINDEREN, whom he married at Thielt (Roman Cath.) July 14, 1630: Petrus Bibau filius Simonis et Maria Verkinderen filia Peter, Testibus Petri bibau senior (relationship unknown, no brother

*A genealogy of the Bybau family, incomplete and with mistakes in the older generations (the oldest ancestor there is, Symoen No. 7), was published in Nederland's Patriciaat, 1914.

†The researches at Thielt were made by Mr. J. Goudswaard, a researcher of the Netherlands.

of Simoen who only had a sister) et Joe Seckaers. She died at the birth of her child, the American progenitor, Jan. 31, 1647: Maria Verkinderen uxor Petri bibau infanti nato, mortae. Pieter Bibau married as his second wife JOSYNA VAN BESBRUGGE, the daughter of Rijckaert van Besbrugge. At the time of her marriage to Pieter Bibau she was the widow of MAURITS LOTENS* by whom she had two children, Laureys and Mary Loten(s).

In the Aardenburg Orphan Chamber record, quoted above, we have mentioned the property near Moerkercke which belonged to Pieter. The heirs of Pieter Bibau made an agreement in regard to this property with Pieter's stepchildren Loten on January 24, 1683, before Notary Public Abraham de Rijcke at Aardenburg (Reg. No. 416).

Pieter Beheydt as husband of Maria Bibou, heir of Pieter Bibou her father, deceased at Thielt, makes an agreement with Laureys fs. Maurits Lootens and the latter's brother-in-law Jan Andries, the husband of Mary Lotens, his (Laureys) sister, in regard to a house and land in the parish of Moerkercke, which property belonged to Pieter Bibou at the time of his second marriage to Josyne fa. Rijckaert van Besbrugge (widow of Maurits Lotens).

It is agreed that the two Lotens children shall pay to the Bibaus 400 Carolus guildens and the money received from the sale of the property shall belong to the Lotens children and to Josyna van Besbrugge.

And again on Dec. 10, 1683, before the same notary they make another agreement covering property situated north of Thielt.

Pieter Beheydt and Louwreys Loten make an agreement in regard to a property of about 25 bunders situated in Thielt outside of the Schuyers capelle (Schuyffers capelle) named Huls-wale, which belongs to the estate of Pieter Bybau.

Pieter Bybau died in 1679 and was bur. Thielt. Nov. 10, 1679: sepulti sunt . . . Petrus bibau. On Nov. 20, 1679, his two children make the following agreement before Notary Public A. C. de Rijcke at Aardenburg (State Archives of Zealand at Middelburg).

On Nov. 20, 1679 appeared the honorable pieter Beheydt, merchant and burgher of Aardenburg, husband of Maria fa (filia, daughter) Pieter Bibou and the honorable Jan fa (filius) the aforementioned Bibou (Jan fa den voornoemden Bibou), being of age and living in the parish of Thielt in Flanders but being at present in this city.

They declare that by virtue of the death of their late father, Pieter Bibau, deceased in the aforesaid parish, they have fallen heir to all chattels, land, houses, barns, debts, and credits which the aforesaid Pieter Bibau owned in the aforesaid parish or elsewhere, and which inheritance is at present undivided. They mutually agree that the aforesaid Jan Bibou shall transfer the entire property in the name of Pieter Beheydt his brother-in-law for his own use, free and clear, for which said Pieter Beheydt is to pay to the aforesaid Jan Bibou the sum of 2,350 guildens.

(signed) J. BYBAU 1679

Pieter Bibau (No. 9) had the following children all baptized in the Roman Catholic church at Thielt.

16. i. CATHARINA BIBAU, filia Petri Bibau et Maria Verkinderen surscripientibus simon bibau junior et anna looten, Feb. 24, 1633. She must have died young as no further mention is made of her in the division of the estate.
17. ii. MARIE BIBAU born Thielt, nata 21 Febr. 1634, baptisata 23 Febr. 1634 Maria filia Petri bibau junior et Maria Verkinderen; bur. Aardenburg, March 22, 1690, aged 55 years, a native of Thielt (Burial Reg.). She married PIETER BEHEYDT† born Thielt abt. 1635, bur. Aardenburg Feb. 9, 1693, aged 58 years, a native of Thielt (Burial Reg.).

There are three children known of this couple, for in the records of the orphan chamber at Aardenburg occurs the following entry: June 30, 1690, Jan Dobbelaer married to Maria Beheydt shall act as guardian over the orphan children of Peter Beheydt viz. Janus 22 years old and Catharina about 16 years old.

*See note about the Lotens family, page 107.

†Beheydt is a well known name in the Aardenburg Baptist colony.

In order to carry out the agreement made with Jan Bibau in regard to the estate of Pieter Bibau, Pieter Beheydt appears before Notary Publ. Abraham de Rijcke at Aardenburg on April 10, 1680, and gives power of attorney to Maria Bybou his wife at present in Thielt in Flanders to sell all lumber and "plantations" belonging to the estate of her late father, in accordance with the agreement made with her brother Jan Bibau.

18. iii. JAN BIBAU (the American progenitor), son of Pieter No. 9, was bapt. in the Roman Cath. church at Thielt Jan. 31, 1647: Joannes Bibau filius Petr Bibau fs Simoen et Maria Verkinderen. His mother died at his birth. He lived at Thielt until his departure for New Netherland. There is a tradition in the American family that the progenitor after having been in New Netherland for some years returned temporarily to his old home to settle an estate. Although we have no direct evidence to prove that this tradition is based on facts, it would seem that at the time of the settlement of his father's estate in 1679, mentioned above, Jan Bibau preferred a cash settlement to a division of the real estate holdings of his father. Is it possible that he intended to sail for the New World shortly after, now that his father had died, and for this venture preferred money to property holdings? The Dutch records do not give us any information about him between 1679 and 1687, when he makes again a settlement with his brother-in-law on account of a legacy received from his cousin Maeyke Bibau.*

This document makes the connection with New Netherland a definite one and is therefore given herein in full (translated).

Notary Abraham de Rijcke at Aardenburg.

On the 15th day of 1687 appeared before me, Abraham de Rijcke, Notary Public residing at Aardenburg, in the presence of the witnesses to be named, d'Eersame (the honorable) Jan fs (filius) Pieter Bijbou at present here in this city, well known to me, stating that he has authorized, ceded, transferred and now authorizes, cedes and transfers to d'Eersame Sr. (the honorable Sinjeur) Pieter Beheydt, merchant and burgher living in the aforesaid city, present and accepting the conditions, such rights and power of attorney as was devolved on the comparant, by virtue of a certain last will and testament, made by Mayken bijbou, late widow of Clais de Baets, deceased in this city, more fully stated in said testament or last will, passed before Notary Thomas Mattheussen dated . . . (not filled out). The comparant acknowledged to have received from the acceptant by virtue of the afores. legal paper and registered document every penny from the first to the last, and to be well satisfied, and to have been paid in full and gives herewith full acquit and receipt; and as the comparant has been left upon the decease of the aforesaid Mayke bijbou, his cousin, as oldest heir (oudste hoir fidaal) a land-in-tenure (leen), being a parcel of land large abt. one half (bunder) acre, situated in the parish of Thielt, outside in the district of Schyerscapelle, the comparant therefore institutes and gives powers of attorney, by virtue of this instrument, to the aforesaid Sr. Pieter Beheydt his brother-in-law, giving him special order, irrevocably to appear before the court of land tenure, under which the aforesaid land-in-tenure resorts, to have the aforesaid land transferred in his name in the style and custom of the aforesaid court; and furthermore to do in a general way and in a special way all that is required, considering the comparant is about to depart from his fatherland, to take up his residence, under the Lord's blessing, in New Netherland; in consideration and in remembrance of the special services and friendship which the comparant has received from the aforesaid Pieter Beheydt and his wife, the comparant's sister, also in regard to his equipment in connection with his voyage, therefore in order not to remain a debtor to ungratefulness, the comparant has in consideration of special friendship, love and affection, given by his free will, gives and allows therefor to Jannes fs Pieter Beheydt, his nephew (cosijn in this case meaning nephew), the aforesaid land-in-tenure, to keep, use and own same as his own; and to appear in the name of the comparant before the aforesaid court of land tenure, to release him in full of the tenure and to invest the aforesaid Jannes Beheydt fs Pieter and his heirs forever with the same and to pass such papers and records as is customary with the aforesaid court; in general and specially to do everything that is required, in the same manner as if he himself were there, could do and see

*It may be noted that the document does not state Jan Bibau living at Thielt, as was the case in other similar instruments, but simply states at present at Aardenburg. However the wording of the instrument indicates a first voyage to New Netherlands rather than a return after a previous sojourn there.

in regard to the transfer of the land-in-tenure. The comparant promises herewith never to revoke the transaction ordered by him by virtue of the clause in the last will and testament and also of his own free will; never to take or allow to be taken any action, directly or indirectly in any way in regard to this, but to regard this proceeding as right, permanent and bonded and of value, without any claims, in regard to any transaction which his constituent will do or have done in regard to the aforesaid matter; giving him also full acquit of all indebtedness which the comparant has with his brother-in-law Pieter Beheyts as of today, nothing exempt.

Done and passed in Aardenburg, without malice, in presence of Jan Dobbelaer, Paulus Servaes as trustworthy witnesses asked to do this, on the day in the month and year as above.

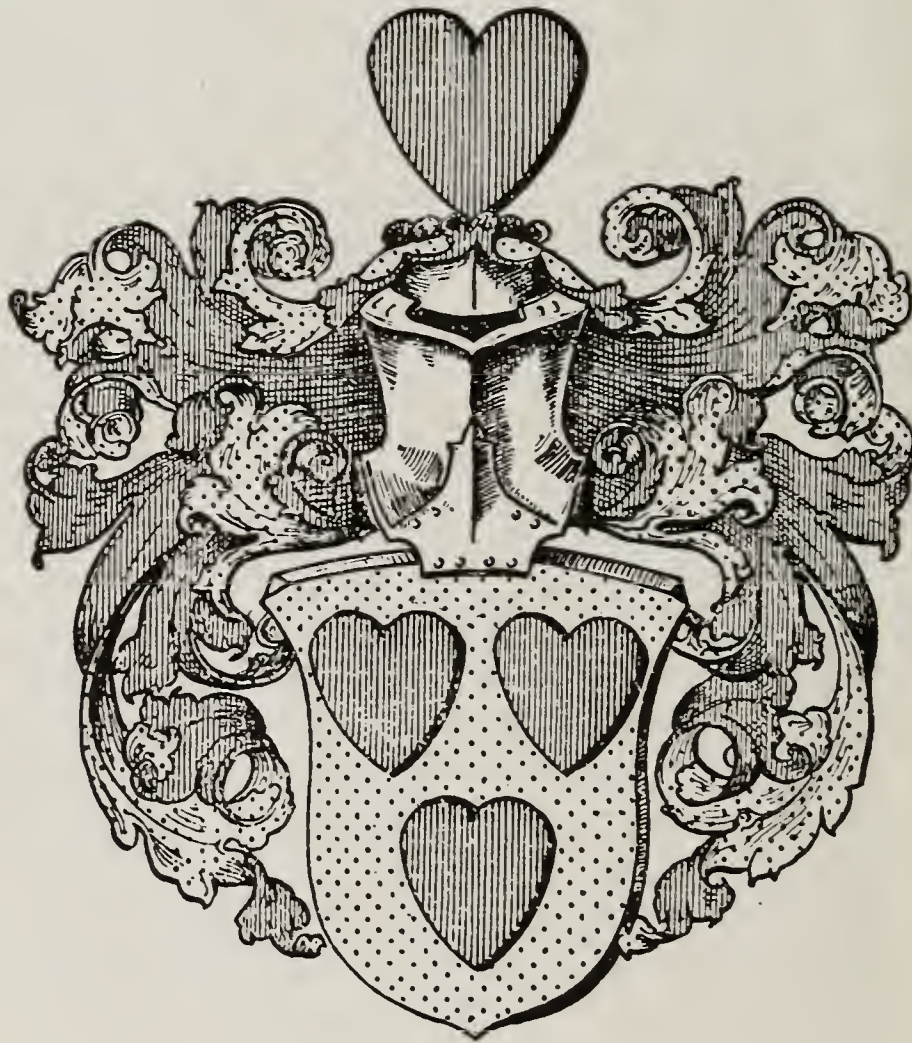

J. BIBAU 1687

The history of Jan Bibau and his descendants in the new fatherland will be the subject of the following chapters.

19. iv. PETRONELLA BIBAU, was the only child of Pieter (No. 9) Bibau's second marriage. She was bapt. at Thielt, Roman Cath. 15 Dec. 1659: Petronella filia Petri bibau f^s Simoens et Judoca van Belsbrugg conjugum.

Chapter II

THE BEBOUT COAT OF ARMS USED TODAY IN HOLLAND

In the accompanying sketch are shown the arms as used at present by the Bybau family in the Netherlands. It would seem that these arms are a misinterpretation of the ancient Bibau arms at Thielt, as found on seals and as shown in the Old Belfry. The charges of these arms are three (2-1) stags' heads cabossed. It is quite possible that on a small seal the general outline of a stag's head cabossed resembles a heart shape, hence the different arms possibly taken from such a seal, as borne today by the Netherlands family.

Chapter III

METYE BEEKMAN, THE AMERICAN-BORN MOTHER OF THE AMERICAN BEBOUTS, 1629-1690.

By Alexander C. Flick

Metje Beekman, who married Jan Bebout as her second husband in 1690, was born in Albany, N. Y., the daughter of Martin Hendricksz. Beekman, an immigrant to New Netherland in 1629. The following sketch of Martin Beekman and his family connects the Bebouts with America only seventeen years after the settlement of Jamestown, Virginia, and nine years after the landing of the Pilgrims at Plymouth Rock.

Ten years after the Patroonship of Rensselaerswyck was created the ship den Harinck arrived on July 7, 1629, at New Amsterdam.¹ Among the 7 passengers was a German boy of 12 named Martin Hendricksz.² He was born in Oldenborch in 1617 and came from Hamelwörden, near Freiburg on the Elbe in Hanover.³ He went up the Hudson River to Fort Orange where he was engaged for 6 years, beginning August 14, as a farm hand at fl.100 a year.⁴ For 3 years and 8½ months he worked for Michael Jansz. who in 1638 had come over with his wife and two servants as a foreman farmer and later got into trouble for selling ammunition to the Indians.⁵ Then he worked 2 years and 3½ months for Cornelis Teunisz. of Breuckelen, who was laboring for the Patroon.⁶ Then from Nov. 1, 1645 to March 1, 1646, he was in the service of Antony de Hooges.⁷ By this time Father Isaac Jogues reported that Fort Orange consisted of 25 or 30 wooden houses and about 100 inhabitants.⁸

he was free to make his own way in the new settlement. He had come from the same place as Adam Roelandson, the schoolmaster, and probably knew everybody on the Patroonship. Picking up such jobs as he could, he looked about for some opening in business. In 1648 he went to court to force Cornelis Teunisz. to pay him back wages and won the suit.⁹ The court also ordered Martin, within a month, to pay his debt to Willem Fredericksz.¹⁰ He and Evert Pels in 1650 bought a brewery and gave their note on March 14 for fl.2400; but the next year they were sued for non-payment and ordered by the court to pay one-third within a month and the balance in February, 1652.¹¹

About 1651 Martin regarded himself as sufficiently prosperous to marry Susanna Jans, who was born in New England in 1634.¹² The court on Feb. 1, 1652, granted him a lot next to Jacob Simonsz. so that he could "support himself by brewing."¹³ Business experience apparently made him cautious because on Oct. 14 he begged the court to release him from bail for Cornelisz. Vogel.¹⁴ Confident of his business integrity the Deacons of the Dutch Reformed Church loaned him out of the Poor Fund 280 guilders on Aug. 18, 1652 and 130 guilders on Nov. 15, 1660.¹⁵ In 1653 he was engaged in some building operation because Steven Jansz. on Feb. 18 sued him for money due for materials and carpenter work¹⁶ and he was ordered to pay the debt within 8 weeks according to the contract.¹⁷ The next year, June 9, Steven sued him again for fl.46 for work on his house. Martin explained that Steven had "quit the work which he had agreed to do" and had put him to unnecessary expense about two window frames.¹⁸ The court appointed two arbiters who decided that Martin might deduct 11 guilders from the bill.¹⁹ Jan Barentz Poest sued Martin on April 29, 1653, for 2000 bricks to build an oven²⁰ and the case was settled amicably.²¹ Money due Pietersz Vosburg from Martin was attached by the court.²²

Earlier references to Martin call him a blacksmith²³ but no such designation has been found in the records, where he is described as "the brewer," "de bierkracker," and "innkeeper." With a brewery and a tavern he was a man of some importance in the community. He was credited with 26 weeks' board of Hans Vos, the court messenger.²⁴ But keeping a public house was found to have its difficulties then as now. Martin and his wife complained to the court on July 7, 1754, that Seeger Corlisz. with Jacob of Loosdrecht, wanting a drink, knocked at their hotel door one evening and getting no answer kicked it in and called Martin and his wife vile names.²⁵ The case was postponed to hear witnesses but that was the end of it.²⁶ It may be that "Hendrick Bierman" who on July 2 and Dec. 27, 1655, was paid 66 florins for 33 days work stringing seaweed was the same Martin the Brewer,²⁷ who the same year at his request had his tax for building bridges cut down from 15 to 10 florins.²⁸

For several years life ran along uneventfully but 1657 was a year full of troubles. On May 1 Martin was called "before all the magistrates" to be questioned about a stabbing affair in his tavern on April 19.²⁹ Herman Jacobsen brought suit against "Susanna bierkackers" who defaulted on June 14.³⁰ Goosen Garritsen, the sheriff, told the court on August 20 that "Susanna Jansses, wife of Martin, the bierkaecker" confessed to selling an Indian a kettle of "strong liquors." For this grave offense she was fined fl.500 and costs of the suit, and "banished from this jurisdiction for the term of six years."³¹ But Susanna while confessing her guilt pleaded that she was moved to the deed "by extreme poverty." Her husband "having double hernia" was "unable to earn his living." She was burdened with three small children and could buy food only with beavers. Hence she bought a beaver from an Indian for a mixture of three pints of beer with brandy and wine. She begged forgiveness "in consideration of her youth and extreme poverty" and promised "never to do so again."³² Her husband, quizzed by the court, sought in vain to defend his wife from the charge because she was so insistent on pleading guilty.³³ She was condemned to pay a fine but the amount is not stated,³⁴ and the proceedings were dropped.³⁵

Meantime Martin appears to have come into possession of a piece of land in addition to his house and lot and brewery.³⁶ On July 9, 1658, Harmen Vedder haled "Martin Bierkaecker" into court³⁷ and on July 16 the magistrates ordered "Martin Hendricksz." presumably the same man as the brewer, to pay a debt of fl.95.10 in beavers by August 1 "on pain of execution."³⁸ Marcelis Jansen on October 15 also brought suit against him but he defaulted.³⁹ "Hendrick, the Brewer" who was ordered to pay Storm Albertsen within 6 weeks the price of 8 beavers for which he became surety,⁴⁰ seems to be the same person as Martin. But "Hendrick Martensen" who on July 23 said that his partner and not he owed Pieter Bronck "fl.170 for beer and wine delivered,"⁴¹ and on June 10, 1659, was ordered to pay fl.60 in seawan to Roeloff Swartout for another allotment of beer and wine,⁴² may have been another man. Before the Fort Orange court appeared 15 of the eldest sachems of the Maquas on August 13, 1658, with 3 French prisoners. They asked for a guide who could speak French to accompany them to Three Rivers to exchange these prisoners and to make peace. The court sent the town crier around to offer 100 guilders to any man who would volunteer for the service. Hendrick Martensen, a soldier, offered to go. The Indians were pleased and promised to bring him back in 40 days. He carried a letter from La Montagne, chief magistrate,⁴³ but he got lost at Three Rivers and his Indian companions were taken prisoners.⁴⁴

For some reason not made clear in the records Martin in 1659 sold a house and lot at Fort Orange at public auction, reserving his brewer's tools, payment to be made in three installments.⁴⁵ Two years later he was still keeping a tavern in Beverwyck.⁴⁶ On Oct. 3, 1661, he sold property in Fort Orange to Arien Symonsen⁴⁷ to whom he promised to pay 98 guilders in wampum by July, 1662.⁴⁸ There is a record of a debt of fl.272 Sept. 12, 1661, which may have been the reason for the sale.⁴⁹ In 1664 he owed 27 gulden in seawan to Gerrit Henry van Rei.⁵⁰ He reported to the court on Oct. 13, 1670, that his canoe had been stolen.⁵¹ In November of the following year the Deacons of the Dutch Reformed Church paid 40 gulden to the "husvrow" of "Mart. Hendricksen" for a month's board of the child of Karsten de Noorman.⁵² The eldest daughter of Martin the Brewer asked for help in August and his wife in Sept., 1673.⁵³ In Jan., 1675, Lisbet Jansen and Susanna Martense received "abundant alms" from the church,⁵⁴ and in March Martin was mentioned.⁵⁵ On Aug. 16, 1676, Susanna on the order of the court was paid 6 beavers for the ward of her son by Hans Jansen,⁵⁶ and on Sept. 5 she was fined for sending her children to the houses of the Indians.⁵⁷ Martin died on June 18, 1677, because on June 19 Susanna told the court that her husband had just died leaving her with 8 children -- 3 needing food and clothes. He left her nothing and "for a considerable time" the Deacons had supported him, her and the 3 youngest children. She asked to be freed from all debts.⁵⁸

To Martin Hendrickz. Beekman and his wife Susanna Janz. were born eight children and when she was left a widow at the age of 43 three of them were still so young that they had to be fed and clothed. The other five were old enough to take care of themselves and no doubt some of them were married. The following have been identified:

1. Johannes who married (1) Machtet Schemerhorn and (2) Eva Van Hagen. He was the father of 5 sons and 7 daughters. He owned land in the Kayaderosseras Patent. He made his will at Albany Dec. 16, 1728 and it was probated Dec. 2,

3. Metje who married (1) Cornelis Van Der Hoeven, who was buried Jan. 10, 1689,⁶¹ and (2) Jan Bebout. She had 4 children by her first husband and 4 by her second.⁶²

The church records speak of an "eldest daughter" with the implication that at least three of the children were girls.

4. Neeltje

5. Martin

After the death of Martin Susanna continued to live in Albany looking after her children the best way she could. That she guarded their welfare jealously is shown by the fact that on Sept. 7, 1680, she complained to the court that Jurisen Teunise "committed violence against her children" in the house of her son-in-law, Cornelis van der Hoeve, by beating them and tearing their clothes. He had to pay damages and costs.⁶³ She did not hesitate to labor in the harvest field because after her remarriage the court record states that "Susanna Beeckman, wife of Arent Jacobs," asked the magistrates on March 1, 1681, to force Cornelis Teunise to pay her 80 gulden in seawan for her husband's harvest work and for her thrashing.⁶⁴ It is not known how long she lived or when she died, but at the time of her second marriage she was only 47 years old.

Thus from fragmentary records gleaned from civil, court and church records from two and a half to three centuries ago, one may reconstruct the activities of Martin Hendricksen Beekman and his wife Susanna Jans, and learn much about their character and personality. They were real Albany pioneers and as such helped to create the patterns of institutions and of life which exist in a modified form today. The descendants of their eight children number many thousands, are found across the continent, and constitute a cross section of the nation.

MetYE Beekman, daughter of Martin and Susanna Beekman, was the American-born mother of the Bebouts in the New World. She was born in Albany, N. Y., about 1657, and grew up there. She married as her first husband Cornelis Van der Hoven about 1677 and after his death in 1689⁶⁵ she married Jan Bebout. She and Cornelis were members of the "Church of Jesus Christ" at New Albany in 1683.⁶⁶ Their children were: Jan, Curtye, Marten and Susanna.⁶⁷ In 1684 Metye presented for baptism Johannis, a son of Jan Beekman, and her grandchild.⁶⁸ Her later life will be traced, so far as known, in the following chapter.

Chapter IV

THE BEBOUT FAMILY IN NEW YORK, NEW JERSEY AND WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA

By Alexander C. Flick

(Reprinted by permission from the New York
Genealogical and Biographical Record July, 1935)

1. JAN¹ PIETERSZ. BEBOUT—to give him the surname most commonly used in America,* arrived undoubtedly in the colonies shortly after the execution of the notarial papers, dated May 15, 1687, in which he speaks of his forthcoming voyage to New Netherland.

He was bapt. in the Roman Cath. church at Thielt, Jan. 31, 1647: Joannes Bibau filius Peter bibau f^s Simeon et Maria Verkinderen. His mother died, as we have seen, at his birth.

The first documentary evidence of Jan Bebout in the New World is his betrothal at Flatbush, Long Island, on Aug. 9, 1690, to METJE (Mattie, Martha) BEEKMAN, dau. of Martin and Susannah Beekman and widow of Cornelius Van der Hoven (HSYB,† 1898:94; Flat. Fr.:35, KCo.:25, 322; T:1). Metje Beekman was probably in her late thirties, for on Nov. 27, 1698, eight years after her marriage to Jan Bebout, she appears under the name of Metie Bibout as a sponsor in the Dutch Ref. Church at Brooklyn at the baptism of her grandson, Cornelis, son of Cornelis and Lijsbeth Verhove (HSYB, 1899:173). Again, in 1708, on Feb. 22 in the same church, together with her son Cornelis Van der Hoeve, she witnessed the baptism of Cornelis, a son of Abraham Slegt and his wife Jannetje Van der Hoven, the latter a daughter of Metje by her first husband (HSYB, 1897:184).

Evidently John Bebout was a man of independent thought and rather too outspoken for his own good, for the records state that on Oct. 11, 1693, "John Bibout, off Broockland, in the county afforsayde, weaver, being committed bye the said justices to the common jail off Kings County ffor divers scandalous and abusive wordes spoken bye the sayde John against their majesties justices of the peace for the county aforesaid, to the contempt of

*A good deal of confusion has resulted from the various spellings of the family name. In that day proper names were written in all sorts of ways. With the changing of the names from French into Dutch and from Dutch into English, it is not surprising to find Bebout appearing as Bibou, Biebeau, Beaubeau, Bevou, Bevout, Biebaut, Bibout, Biebout, Beebout, Beabout, etc.

†The abbreviations here used are those published in the REC. 64:133, with the following additions:

Brkn. S.-Stiles' History of Brooklyn. 3 vols.

P & W-Monnette's First Settlers of Piscataway and Woodbridge.

their majesties authority and breache off the peace; the sayd John havinge now humbly submitted hemselfe and craves pardon and mercy off the sayd justices ffor his missdemeanor, is discharged, payinge the officers fees, and being on his good beahaviour till next cort of sessions, in November next ensuing the dayte thereof" (Brkn.S:1:206). John Bebout seems to have prospered, because in 1696 he bought a house and 42 acres at Bedford, L. I. (KCo.: 36, 266).

In a list of the freeholders in the town of Brooklyn in 1698 he appears under the name "Jan Bibon," with a wife and 6 children, some of whom were the Van der Hoeven children, his wife's children by her first marriage (Brkn S.: 1:439). On Aug. 30, 1701, "John Bybon" sold to Cornelis Vanderhove (his stepson) for £37-10, one equal half of a brewhouse at Bedford with an equal part of all the brewing vessels (Brkn.S.:1:212). The same year he was a collector of taxes in the city of Brooklyn (Furman's Notes, 64). On Aug. 30, 1705, he sold his farm at Bedford (Conveyances III:46) and removed to Staten Island, where he ran a brewery (Gardner MS. Gen. Notes, VIII:102. N. J. Hist. Soc.). In the census of Staten Island, taken it is believed in 1706 (NJMis.:1:149), appear the names of "John Pibir," thought to be John Bebout; Martha Bebout, a "woman"; and Peter "Beyout" and "Cobus Bebout" (Cobus is the common short name in Dutch for Jacobus or Jacob), boys under 16 years of age (N. Y. Col. MSS. 42:60 in State Library at Albany, N. Y.). Marytje and John do not appear in the census, due no doubt to the fact that only a portion of this census has survived.* Sometime after 1706 John Bebout seems to have had some connection with Middlesex County, N. J. (P&W: 80, 90).

On Oct. 23, 1710, when he made his will, he regarded himself a citizen of "Staten Island in the Province of New York." He gave his wife "Mette" his whole estate "during her widowhood"; to his eldest son Peter £8; to his son Jacobus his "Loom and all the tackling." After his wife's death or marriage his estate was to be divided equally between the sons. The sum of £75, "out upon rent on Long Island," was to go to his wife's children. There was no mention of his daughter Marytje, neither was a son John mentioned. The will was signed "Jan Bibou." Evidently he died about Oct., 1716, for his will was probated on Oct. 27, of that year. His property on Staten Island inventoried at £26 (Secy. of State, Trenton, N. J.). What became of his wife is not known. On Oct. 26, 1715, at the baptism of Mertien³ Bebout, a daughter of Peter² Bebout, "Mettien Bebout" acts as a sponsor (SCHQ:2:142), and it would seem that this is the grandmother of the child. If such is the case Metje Bebout was still living at that date.

Children born to John¹ Bebout† and Metje Beekman, probably in Brooklyn: 4 (Bebout):

- +2. i. MARYTJE², b. abt. 1691.
- +3. ii. PETER², b. abt. 1693.
- +4. iii. JACOB², b. abt. 1695.
- +5. iv. JOHN², b. abt. 1697.

*Based on examination of the original census.

†Two at present unidentified persons of a similar name are also found in the colonies. Jaques Bibeau on Jul. 23, 1700, landed at Hampton, Va. [Hug. Soc. of America (Tercent. 1898) II 284]. Jacques Bibeau is in 1704 a sponsor at the baptism of Jean Hain in New York (Hug. Soc. of Am. I:100. Jacques signed with a mark "A"). Here all knowledge of him ends.

Besides Jacques there was also a Frans Bebout buried in the New York Dutch Church, who d. Sept. 28, 1740 (Holl. Soc. Year Book, 1899:144).

If the above-named persons belong to the same family, it is not evident from the available records.

SECOND GENERATION

2. MARYTJE² BEBOUT, born in Brooklyn in 1691 and baptized on Aug. 23, (HSYB, 1897:163), was the eldest child. She was 14 years old when her parents located at Staten Island, if she was then living. She is not mentioned in the census of 1706, neither is she mentioned in her father's will. Nothing further is known about her.

3. PETER² BEBOUT was born about 1693 in Brooklyn. He is mentioned as the eldest son in his father's will, and moved with his parents in 1705 to Staten Island, where the next year he was included in the census as "Peter Bevout," with other members of the family. Some time later he crossed over to Middlesex Co., N. J., where in 1715 at about the age of 22, he married CHRISTINE MOLLISSEN, who appears to have been a dau. of John Mollissen. The records show that John Mollissen was at Piscataway as early as 1668 and Christian in 1689 (P&W:96). In 1701-3 the former owned 940 acres of land (P&W:106). On May 12, 1731, John Mollisson transferred to his daughter Christina "by deed of gift" lot No. 8 in New Winsor between Millstone River and Rock Brook. On Jan. 9, 1733, she also received a deed for 100 acres known as lot No. 8, which was joined on the east by land belonging to her father and on the north by a tract in the possession of John Bebout, probably her husband's brother. This farm she sold on March 11, 1762, to Benjamin Sutton for 70 pounds current money and signed the deed as "Christen Bebout" of the township of Piscataway. She was described as "Tayloriss" (Deed in the office of the Sec. of State, Trenton, N. J.).

In 1715 Peter Bebout with his brother "Coverse" or "Cobus" (Jacobus) served in the New Jersey Militia in Capt. Thomas Wetherle's company in the regiment of Col. Thomas Farmer (Report of N. Y. State Historian, I, 532; PNJHS 1928, 204; 1929, 98-9; P&W, 115).

On Oct. 26, 1715, Peter Bebout and Christina Mollissen had a daughter Mertien baptized at Raritan (Somerville), Somerset County, N. J. (SCHQ: 2-142). A sponsor at this baptism was Mettien Bebout, undoubtedly the child's grandmother.

Peter² Bebout's name is included in a list of early settlers at Piscataway in 1716 (Clayton, 588). If there were other children born to Peter and Christina, their names are still concealed in the records. "Ezekle Perigo" in 1724 mentioned Peter Bebout in his will (NJA:23:360). On Jan. 13, 1750, Peter Bebout witnessed the will of Gersham Drake, a blacksmith (NJA:30:151). Neither the date of his death nor that of his wife has been ascertained. Of the later history of their daughter Mertien nothing is known.

4. JACOB² BEBOUT, the second son of John Bebout and Metye Beekman, was born about 1695, probably in Brooklyn. He likewise went with his parents from Long Island to Staten Island in 1705. In the Census of Staten Island for 1706 he is recorded as "Cobus Bebout," a boy under 16 years of age. If he was born in the year 1695, then he was a mere lad of 11 at that time. Unlike his elder brother Peter, Jacob remained most of his life on Staten Island. Information about his family is more complete than that about Peter. He married in New York City on Feb. 13, 1717, MARY SWEEM (Swam. MDC:126). Mary seems to have been the daughter of Anthony Sweem, who made his will June 16, 1719, on Staten Island, leaving all his property to his wife Nealtie during her life or widowhood. His eldest son, Johannes, was left £5 "in full of any pretense as heir at law." Mary (who is supposedly the wife of Jacob Bebout) and her sisters Elizabeth, Hannah, Rachel and Leah received £30 each. His daughter Elizabeth was given £50 more than his other children. If his son Cornelius should ever return, he was to "share with the rest." Col. Thomas Farmer and Dr. Johnson of New York City and Goesen Adrianse of Richmond County were named as executors (WNYHS II:212). The will was probated March 10, 1719/20, making it probable that Anthony Sweem's death occurred early in that year. A year before his demise, Jacobus Bebout and Rachel Sweem on March 1, 1718/19, witnessed the baptism of Jacobus Sweem, son of Joh. and Mary (Rus) Sweem (SI:21).

In 1715, the year before his marriage, "Coverse Bebout," or Jacob, with Peter Bebout, served in the New Jersey Militia in the Regiment of Col. Thomas Farmer mentioned above (2d Ann. Rep. N. Y. State Historian I:532).

During the decade between 1720 and 1730 Jacob Bebout and Mary Sweem had four children baptized in the Reformed Dutch Church on Staten Island: Jacob, July 16, 1721 (SI:25); Maria, March 14, 1724/5 (SI:30); Elizabeth, Feb. 19, 1716/7 (SI:34), who married on Staten Island Sept. 6, 1755 (NJA-21:45), John Winants; and Peter, May 15, 1729 (SI:38). There may have been other children, but if so their names have not been discovered. In 1723/4 Jacob Bebout and Mary Sweem witnessed the baptism of Lea, daughter of John Van Der Hoven and Anna Sweem (SI:29).

In 1732 Jacob Bebout witnessed the will of his friend Jacques Poillon, a brewer on Staten Island (WNYHS, 3:115). He had his cattle-mark registered on Staten Island in 1735 (NJMis. 1:56). He may have removed to Essex County, N. J., for on June 19, 1759, a Jacob Bebout of that county was granted letters of administration for the estate of Ephraim Fraser, Jr., a soldier of Elizabeth (NJA 32:121). Between 1758 and 1761 he died intestate (Index of Wills, N. J., 1705-1805:17).

Little information has been obtained about his children. Jacob, the oldest son, on May 14, 1763, bought 100 acres of land in Somerset Co., N. J., and he and his wife Mary signed a mortgage as "Bebaub." It is possible that this Jacob went to Bedford Co., Pa., for a Jacob Bebout paid a tax there of 11 pence in 1774, and 3/6 in 1775 (Pa. Archives, 3 Ser. 22:74, 106). The Matthew Bebout who lived in the same county as a "single Freeman" and paid a tax of 15 sh. in 1774 (Pa. Arch. 3 Ser. 22:75) may have been another son or a grandson. He was described as a "ranger" in the Revolution (Pa. Arch. 3 Ser. 23:233; 5 Ser. 4:599). Just what became of the son Peter, born in 1729, has not been discovered. It is hoped that some members of this branch of the family will work out the line. Since the records of the descendants of Jacob Bebout are so obscure, further consideration of his descendants will be dropped at this place.

5. JOHN² BEBOUT is assumed to be a son of John Bebout and Mettie Beekman although he is never definitely stated as such. He was probably born in Brooklyn around the year 1697 and moved with his parents to Staten Island in 1705. No trace has been found of him in the records until his marriage to MARY MILLER about 1720. Littell on page 20 states, "The father of the Bebout family came from Holland and married Mary Miller, sister of Rev. Benjamin Miller (1715-1781) of Scotch Plains. They had two sons, John and Peter." It is possible that he confused this John with his supposed father of the same name who came here from Holland.* The Rev. Benjamin Miller, brother of Mary, was a Baptist minister, who served the church at Scotch Plains from Feb. 13, 1743, to Nov. 14, 1781. John and Mary Miller who witnessed a baptism on Staten Island on June 17, 1722, may have been Mary Miller's parents (SI:27).

This John Bebout was very likely the one mentioned on Jan. 9, 1733, in a deed of 100 acres of land which "Christen Bebout" of Piscataway township

*There is a tradition among his descendants that Jan² was an independent settler, not a child of Jan¹ Pietersz. Bebout. This might be correct. John¹ Bebout did not mention a son John in his will, and in a deed dated Aug. 30, 1705, John¹ Bebout mentions "my owne two sons Petrus and Jacobus" (REC. 47:162), but again does not mention a son John. John² is not mentioned in the Staten Island census of 1706. If John² was not a son of John¹, he was undoubtedly closely connected with the family, and might have been a son of Jan Bibau, b. 1647, a cousin of John¹ Bebout (REC. 56:109).

received from her father (Deed in the office of the Secretary of State, Trenton, N. J.). Just when John Bebout moved from Staten Island to Middlesex Co., N. J., has not been determined, but it must have been prior to 1733. He was still living there between 1741 and 1747, because on May 30, 1742, "John Bebout yeoman" sold to Amasiah Bonham, his brother-in-law, of Huntington Co., a parcel of land of 70 acres, bought jointly of Peter Sutton's executors on Jan. 6, 1741 (Deeds F 2, p. 116. Peter Bebout was one of four witnesses. Bonham's wife was Mary). Again on May 20, 1747, he sold to John Hight "wheelwright" for £35, part of a piece of land designated as lot No. 9, which had been given in 1731 by John Mollissen to his children and which John Bebout had bought (Deeds F 3, p. 24, "John Bebout cordwainer" received a quit-claim deed for it, Jan. 9, 1733/4). In 1733 he is called a cordwainer. Nothing further has been heard of him after 1747.

According to Littell, John Bebout and Mary Miller had two sons: Peter, who was born after 1721, and John, who was born Aug. 25, 1729. This gap of eight years was filled in no doubt by other children whose names have been lost, and there may still have been other children born after 1729.*

Peter Bebout is the ancestor of the Morris Co., N. J., Bebout family; his younger brother John the progenitor of the Somerset Co., N. J., branch.

Perhaps it will be of some assistance to remember that in 1675 a county court was established by the act of the New Jersey legislature at Piscataway. This action was followed in 1682 by setting off Middlesex County. Then in 1688 the settlers of Middlesex County on the "uppermost part of the Raritan River" were set apart as Somerset County. Finally in 1728/9 "the upper parts of Hunterdon" were organized into Morris County.

Children of John² Bebout and Mary Miller: 2 (Bebout):

+6. Peter³, b. after 1721.

+7. John³, b. Aug. 25, 1729.

THIRD GENERATION

6. PETER³ BEBOUT, born after 1721 at Piscataway, N. J., married (1) SARAH JEWELL. Littell gives the date as Dec. 1, 1767, which cannot be correct. He probably meant Dec. 1, 1747. He mar. (2), about 1749, SARAH DARLING, "a half sister of William Parrot, Sr.," who lived on or near Stony Hill Road not far from Long Hill (Lit.:37, 312). This fact indicates that his second marriage was after his removal to Long Hill.

From Piscataway he removed to Morris Co., N. J., and settled on a farm on the north side of Long Hill. In 1852 Littell made an attempt to set down facts about his family, and stated that they had lived on Long Hill for nearly a century. If this is correct. Peter³ Bebout located in his new home around 1750.

Peter Bebout joined the Presbyterian Church at New Providence (Gardner MS. notes. VIII:105). In 1769, either he or his uncle Peter (No. 3) subscribed 14 shillings to the support of Rev. Jonathan Elmer of Turkey (PNJHS, 3 Ser. 3:175). According to the New Jersey Census of 1772 he was living in 1772 in Morris Co. with a family of 4 males, two between the ages of 15 and 50, and two under the age of 16; one female over 16 (probably his wife), and 4 under 16 (Gardner MS. Notes, VIII:104).

On April 28, 1780, Peter Bebout received from Joseph Lewis, Quartermaster at Morristown, N. J., Certificate No. 870 for $600.00 Continental money, and on Sept. 12, 1780, he received certificate No. 1280 for $1,157.30 for carting up to March 1, 1780 (Quartermaster General's Department No. Voucher 1129, No. 2 Voucher 1381).

*The Margaret Bebout who married Philip Cooper in Christ Church, Shrewsbury, N. J., on Oct. 26, 1754, might have been one of the children.

Peter Bebout made his will Jan. 25, 1782. In it he mentions his wife Sarah, his sons Ebenezer, William, Peter, Jr., Lewis and youngest son Stephen, not yet 21, and daughters Abigail, Mary, Martha and Nancy (Will M:68, Secy. of State, Trenton, N. J.). Aaron S. Bebout in a letter of March 21, 1916, to Sadie A. Bebout of Amity, Pa., stated that Peter Bebout died on Long Hill on June 13, 1782, but did not state his authority. Littell states he died Jan. 13 or Aug. 23, 1784 (Lit.:37).

Children of Peter³ Bebout.

By his first wife, Sarah Jewell:

8. i. EBENEZER⁴, b. abt. 1747, mar. Dec. 23, 1767, SARAH GOLDEN. According to the census of 1772 he, his wife and three sons were living in Morris township, Morris Co., N. J. (Gardner MS. Notes, VIII:104). He helped to administer the estate of his father in 1782 and for some years thereafter. Since he drops out of the Morris Co. records, it is more than likely that he removed to the western part of Pennsylvania. The Federal Census of 1790 includes an Ebenezer Bebout in Washington Co., Pa., with 2 sons over 16, and 2 under 16, and 1 daughter.

By his second wife, Sarah Darling:

9. ii. WILLIAM⁴, b. 1750 on Long Hill; m. (1) MARTHA TANGLEY; m. (2) May 1, 1777, at Hanover, N. J., HANNAH OGDEN of Caldwell. He served as a private in Capt. Laton's Co. of Col. Seeley's Eastern Battalion of Morris Co. Militia on a return dated May 7, 1778, with his brother Peter (MSS. 1330, Battalion Class. Officer of Adjutant General, Trenton, N. J.). William Bebout died Feb. 20, 1820, aged 70 (Lit. 37). His wife Hannah d. Sept. 5, 1828 (administration papers at Morristown, N. J.).
- By his second wife he had a daughter Sally⁵, b. 1778, who married Joseph Crane, Jr. (1771-1829), and died Aug. 31, 1825 (Gardner MS. Notes, VIII:104).
10. iii. PETER⁴, b. abt. 1752. Mention in his father's will in 1782. He also served as a private in Capt. Laton's Co. during the Revolution (see above). He died intestate in 1784. David Smalley and Sarah Bebout—apparently Peter's widowed mother—were authorized to administer his estate, Dec. 28, 1784. The papers in this connection mention his brother Ebenezer, his sisters Mary and Martha, and one half of the homestead place which the widow is to have the use of for life (Papers on file at County Court House, Morristown, N. J.).
11. iv. CHRISTIAN⁴, probably b. abt. 1754, "died at about 18 years of age" (Lit.:37), about 1772. Not mentioned in his father's will.
12. v. ABIGAIL⁴, born abt. 1761-2, married LIEUT. ISAAC POTTER (1760-1832), son of Colonel Samuel Potter. She died Feb. 6, 1804, age 42 years (Lit.:37, 328; Gardner MS. Notes, VIII:105; Inscriptions New Providence Cemetery). A daughter Rachel d. March 25, 1788, age 3, and a daughter Margaret d. May 26, 1792.
13. vi. MARY⁴, b. —; mar. Dec. 25, 1785, JOHN OSBORN (Lit.:37, 307).
14. vii. MARTHA⁴, b. abt. 1767; mar. (1) Nov. 12, 1786, JOHN BEDELL (1764-1788); mar. (2) Nov. 15, 1789, LUTHER JONES. She died May 18, 1847, at the age of 80. By her first husband she had a dau. Catherine⁵, b. Dec. 4, 1787, who mar. June, 1806, her step-brother, Erastus Jones, son of Luther Jones (Lit.:37, 41, 42, 196).
15. viii. LEWIS⁴, b. abt. 1768. He is said to have died "at about 15 years," and is mentioned in his father's will in 1782.
16. ix. STEPHEN⁴, b. abt. 1770; mar. SARAH CORY, daughter of Elder Daniel Cory and Martha Bedell. She died July 5, 1843 (Lit.:95). Apparently Stephen Bebout made his will in 1831 and died about that time.

Children of Stephen⁴ Bebout and Sarah Cory:

- a. Peter⁵, b. July 11, 1797, at Myersville; m. Jan. 3, 1822, Abigail Potter, dau. of Samuel Potter; d. Dec. 2, 1869. She d. Oct. 22, 1847. Children: Joel Thompson (d. May 20, 1792), Elizabeth and Mary.
- b. Israel⁵, b. Oct. 30, 1799; m. July 4, 1843, Mary Crane; d. Apr. 24, 1869. His wife died Jan. 17, 1869.
- c. Daniel Cory⁵, d. as a young man in 1839.
- d. Julia Ann⁵, m. Dec. 2, 1824, Benjamin Crane.
- e. Sineus⁵, m. Louisa Munder of Bridgetown and lived at Plainfield, N. J.
- f. William⁵, m. Phebe Ann Martin of Plainfield.
- g. Susan⁵, b. Sept. 18, 1812; d. unm. May 14, 1878 (Lit.:37-8).
- 17. x. NANCY⁴, m. (1) SIMEON DUNN; m. (2) ELISHA COVELL, of Green Brook (Lit.:37).

7. JOHN³ BEBOUT, born at Piscataway, N. J. Aug. 25, 1729,* married about 1747, when apparently he was only 18 years of age, MARY THURMAN. He settled at Vealtown (Somerville) in Somerset Co., N. J. This was about six miles across the valley from Long Hill in Morris Co., where his brother lived. He joined the Presbyterian Church at Basking Ridge, N. J.

The family tradition is to the effect that John³ Bebout served in the Revolutionary War, but actual military service has not been found. He served in the Department of the Quarter-master General, for on June 28, 1780, he received from Joseph Lewis, Quarter-master at Morristown, Certificate No. 1098 for $186.60 for carting, up to April 13, 1780 (MSS. 4287, p. 9, Adjutant General's Office, Trenton, N. J.). Again on July 31, 1781, he received from Timothy Pickering, Quarter-Master General, Cert. No. 2882 for the sum of $5.60 for similar work (Quarter-Master General's Dept., Book A, Voucher 230).

After the Revolution he moved first to Sussex Co., N. J., and shortly afterwards to Washington Co., Pa., about 1786. There he was listed in the Federal Census of 1790 as having a son over 16 and a daughter. The son might have been Daniel—the other children had all married—and there he died June 21, 1803.

Children of John³ Bebout, all born in Somerset Co., N. J. The dates of birth are taken from a manuscript, "Bebout Ancestry," compiled by Mrs. Sarah Bebout Paddock of Mt. Vernon, O., who copied them from the Bible record.

- 18. i. PETER⁴, b. July 27, 1748. On May 10, 1784, he received cert. No. 1050, voucher No. 70, signed by William Verbryck for 5/10 depreciation of his Continental pay in the Somerset Co. Militia. To this was added 4 pence as "2nd year interest" (Militia 2d Year, Adjutant's General Office, Trenton, N. J.). No record of wife or children.
- 19. ii. JOANNA⁴, b. Nov. 18, 1750; m. (1) — Coy; m. (2) — Famage.
- 20. iii. JOHN⁴, b. Jan. or June 20, 1752; m. 1777 MARY AGNEW, b. 1757, d. 1830 (Western Pa. III:1188). In his pension application, made when 80 years old, he states that he volunteered as a militiaman in 1776 under Capt. Platt Bailey, and marched to Elizabethtown, where he joined the regiment of which Col. Thomas Gavin McCoy was first Lieutenant. Later he went to Bergen, N. J., under Capt. Gavin McCoy. He also served under Major James Linn in New York before returning home. He served "six monthly tours" under Capt. Gavin McCoy and Lieut. Thomas Collier. He helped to guard the river up from Amboy and had frequent skirmishes with the enemy. He was engaged in two small battles under Gen. Heard and Gen. Maxwell. He also took part in the Battle of Monmouth. He was also engaged in catching horse thieves and Tories, and by order of Gov. Livingston captured Richard Heyden, Joseph Heydon and William Steele. Altogether he served six monthly tours under Capt. McCoy in 1777-8 and other tours in 1778, 1779, 1780 and 1781. He never received a discharge. He went to Washington Co., Pa., in 1802-3. Sarah Anderson and Rev. John McMillan swore that they knew that he had served two years. For service of 18 months he was granted a pension of $60. a month, commencing March 4, 1831, and he was still on the pension roll May 11, 1833 (Pension Bureau S 2069).

*This date is based on the family Bible, copied by Ella B. McBurney of Canonsburg, Pa., Dec. 3, 1928. The year may have been recorded from memory. The statement in the Bible that John was "born in Holland" is clearly an error.

According to the manuscript genealogy of Mrs. Sarah B. Paddock of Mt. Vernon, O., he died in Washington Co., Pa., on March 8, 1836. His wife had died six years previous.

Children of John⁴ Bebout and Mary Agnew:

- a. William⁵, b. Apr. 21, 1778; mar. Hannah Craig; d. Dec. 24, 1855.
- b. Sarah⁵, b. Feb. 25, 1780; mar. Joseph McLain; d. 1858.
- c. Peter⁵, b. Feb. 28, 1782; mar. (1) ——— McFarland; m. (2) Isabel Cooper; d. Apr. 2, 1860.
- d. Susannah⁵, b. Dec. 20, 1786; mar. Wm. Lond.
- e. John⁵, b. Mar. 20, 1789; mar. Mary Hawley; d. June 21, 1843.
- f. Mary⁵, b. June 23, 1791; mar. Herman Haines; d. 1873.
- g. Israel⁵, b. Aug. 12, 1793.
- h. Elizabeth⁵, b. Dec. 4, 1797; mar. Isaac Weaver; d. 1818.
- i. Ira Condit⁵, b. Feb. 6, 1799; mar. Mary Hawley; d. Mar. 28, 1891.

- 21. iv. MARY⁴, b. Oct. 25, 1756; mar. Nov. 23, 1778, JACOB³ (Thomas², Samuel¹) LEWIS, as his second wife. They had nine children. After the death of her husband in 1801 near Uniontown, Pa., she moved to Knox Co., Ohio, and lived in a cabin near her daughter Joanna (SCHQ-6:119-120).
- 22. v. BENJAMIN⁴, b. Dec. 4, 1758. He served in the Revolution. Samuel H. Philips, a grandson of Lieut. Col. David Philips and Sarah Bebout (No. 23), wrote the pension office that his grandmother had three brothers in the Revolution, Peter, John and Benjamin. He had often "talked with Benjamin, who lived to be 90 years old, and I am now 80" (b. 1835). He said he was one of the Minute Men (Letter of Apr. 25, 1905, in Pension Office). Benjamin Bebout applied for a pension claiming service under Capt. Gavin McCoy in the First Regiment of Somerset Co. militia; enlisted in Bernards township Aug., 1777, and was at the battle of Springfield, June 23, 1780. He resided in Washington Co., Pa., on Aug. 22, 1853, the date of his application (Pension Office, Rejection No. 646). His application was not rejected on the ground of a denial of Revolutionary service, but because the length of service was not sufficient to meet the pension law.

After the Revolution he married Dec. 7, 1784, HANNAH MORTLETT. With his wife and five children he migrated to Washington Co., Pa., where he lived over sixty years. His wife d. Feb. 11, 1830. He made his will at Paris, Pa., on Sept. 23, 1854, and died Nov. 8, 1857, within a month of his hundredth birthday. His will was probated Dec. 2, 1857 (Will Book Court House Washington, Pa., VIII:1).

Children of Benjamin⁴ Bebout and Hannah Mortlett:

- a. Benjamin⁵, b. 1786.
- b. Polly⁵, b. 1788.

- c. Nancy⁵, b. 1790; unmarried.
- d. Hannah⁵, b. 1792; d. 1862.
- e. Abraham⁵, b. July 5, 1794; mar. 1817, Elizabeth Van Ostrand.
- f. Jacob⁵, b. 1795.
- g. Freeman⁵, b. 1797.
- h. Peter⁵, b. 1799; d. at Bucyrus, Ohio.
- i. Samuel⁵, b. 1801.
- j. John⁵, b. 1802.
- k. Thurman⁵, b. 1804. Went to New Orleans, La.
- l. Israel⁵, b. 1805; d. in Pennsylvania.
- m. Elizabeth⁵, b. 1807.
- n. Raspah⁵, b. 1809.
- o. Rachel⁵, b. 1811.
- 23. vi. SARAH⁴, b. Nov. 25, 1863; mar. (1) SAMUEL ANDERSON; m. (2) LIEUT. COL. DAVID PHILIPS.
- 24. vii. SAMUEL⁴, b. Nov. 25, 1764. No further record.
- 25. viii. CATHERINE⁴, b. Sept. 5, 1766; mar. Benjamin Price; d. 1841.
- 26. ix. DANIEL⁴, b. Sept. 22, 1768. In 1835 he applied for a pension stating that he was drafted as a Revolutionary soldier in 1781, and served in Capt. McCoy's company. He belonged to the Somerset County Militia at Millstone. He was wounded by a musket ball in the left breast in a skirmish with the tories and was off duty six weeks at home with his father till he recovered. He rejoined his regiment at Elizabethtown and served out his six months, receiving a written discharge from Capt. McCoy. His application was rejected on the ground that he did not serve out his full six months (Rejection No. 689, Pension Office).

He probably removed to Washington Co., Pa., and was included in the 1790 census as unmarried. He "lived a number of years" in that region and then spent nine years in Trumbull Co., Ohio, after which he lived for twenty-three years in Kentucky. Finally in 1828 he went to Rush City, Md., where he was living Oct. 6, 1835, when he applied for his pension. At that time he asserted that he was 70 years of age on the previous Sept. 22,—which if true would have made him born in the year 1765 instead of 1768. When and where he died is not known. No record of any wife or children.

This preliminary study of the Bebout family in America down to the close of the American Revolution is, so far as known, the first serious attempt to reconstruct the history of the family. The results are in open conflict with some of the commonly accepted family traditions. No doubt there are errors in both the conjectures and in the interpretation of isolated facts. It is the hope of the writer that members of the family and interested genealogists will assist him to make the necessary corrections. Information on any phase of the family history will be welcomed.

20.iii. a. Second son of William⁵ and Hannah Crague
Bebout. (p.27)

86 a₁) John⁶ Bebout, b. 9-10-1789, d. 11-22-
1885. He was born in Sussex Co., N. J.

and was their youngest child, when they moved from Sussex Co., N. J. to Washington Co., Pa. They rode on horseback. The boy became tired of this one day, and insisted upon walking. His father, knowing that his brother Enoch was a short distance behind them, put the boy down and told him to walk. John trudged sturdily on until a slight turn in the road took his father and the others out of sight. Then he became frightened at finding himself all alone. But just then his Uncle Enoch came in sight, and he was very glad to be picked up. He did not object to riding on the horse after that.

When he was a boy in his teens, the Rev. John Howard Stockton came from the Presbyterian Seminary in Princeton, N. J., to Cross Creek, Pa., to become the pastor of the Presbyterian Church. He was a strict teetotaler. But he found that every member of his church sometimes drank a little whiskey, and considered it quite right to do so. William Bebout, who was a prominent member, owned a large farm and operated a whiskey still at that time, and was very decided in his opinions regarding his business. Dr. Stockton was a strong man and an earnest preacher. Very soon, there was a great revival in the church, and many of the members, especially among the young people, were converted, among them John Bebout.

William was greatly annoyed by this, as John and the other young converts refused to drink whiskey. John was small and never strong, until after he was twenty-one years of age. His father thought he would not be able to be a farmer, and so he apprenticed him to a shoemaker, where he learned that trade. But he later became strong, and grew to be nearly six feet tall. When he married Jane Gault, he asked his father to help him as he had done for other brothers, who were married. His father said that he would give him a wagon load of whiskey, if he would take it to town and sell it. John did not wish to do this, but his father was very firm, and finally John sold the whiskey, and received the money. But, as long as he lived, he regretted that he had done so, and wished that he had gone out empty handed, trusting in his Heavenly Father, rather than to have engaged to any extent in the liquor business.

Later, William Bebout was truly converted, and threw out all the whiskey that he had on hand, and had no connection with the business afterward.

In 1831, John Bebout moved with his wife and three children to a farm near Mansfield, Ohio. About 1837, he sold that farm, and bought one in Clear Creek Township, Ashland Co., three miles from Savannah, Ohio. What has always been known as "The Old Sixteen School House" was built on a corner of his farm. About 1867, John bought about forty acres of land, and a large house in Savannah, where he and his wife spent the rest of their lives.

He married Jane Gault, b. 9-10-1799, in Washington Co., Pa, d. 8-25-1880. Both died in Savannah, O., and are buried there.

His parents moved with their family to Cross Creek, Pa., in 1801. John moved with his three oldest children to Ohio, near Mansfield, in 1831, and to Clear Creek Township, Ashland Co., near Savannah, Ohio, in 1837. They had ten children 88 d1)Enoch⁶ Bebout, b. 7-24-1801 in Washington Co., Pa., d. 10-27-1878, age 77. Mar. 11-1-1832 Eliza Boggs, b. 12-27-1808 at Cross Creek, Pa., d. -- 1890, age 82.

They lived near Mount Vernon, Ohio. They are buried in Mount Pleasant Cemetery, near Mount Vernon, Ohio. They took up one hundred and sixty acres of government land, near Bladensburg. At that time, there were some Indians in Knox and the adjoining counties. Enoch cleared an acre of land, and built a log house of one large room. Their daughter Rebecca⁷ was born there, in 1836.

Enoch was a cabinet maker by trade, as well as a farmer. He made their own furniture, which is now in the homes of his grandchildren, and is very valuable. During the winter, he taught private school, and had several pupils, who came several miles to learn to read and write. He built a log church on his farm.

Later, he sold that farm, which was afterwards bought by his brother William, who moved from Washington County, Pa., with his wife, the former Miss Anna McClurg. William had a large farm, built a new house, and was very successful in life.

Enoch Bebout, after selling his first farm, bought a farm from the government in Pleasant Township. There was a log house on this farm, in which they lived for awhile. Later, he built a brick house, in which the most of his children were born. About the year 1869, they built a frame house of nine rooms and two large halls, on what is now known as the David B. Kerr farm. Enoch Bebout lived to be seventy seven years old.

In the fall of 1850, Enoch Bebout's youngest brother, Ebenezer, and his wife, the former Miss Esther McCuen, with their family of four children, moved from Washington Co., Pennsylvania, to Knox Co., Ohio. They moved the family in a one-horse carriage, and their goods in a two-horse wagon.

Enoch Bebout had written to Ebenezer about a farm, which was for sale, and Ebenezer hoped to purchase this farm. But it was sold the day before he arrived. Ebenezer and family, having no place to go, were taken in by his brother Enoch and his wife and six children, where they remained until spring. Then Ebenezer purchased a farm on the Utica and Martinsburg Roads, on which there was a log house, into which they moved, and lived for several years.

Then he bought another farm, adjoining on the East, on which there was a frame house. About the year 1866, he built a two-story-and-a-half house, containing twelve rooms and two large halls, where they lived until their death. Ebenezer Bebout died in 1900 at the age of 80 years. His wife died in 1891, at the age of 68 years.

A brother Elisha moved from Washington Co., Pennsylvania, to Knox Co., Ohio, with his wife, the former Miss Ellen Beel. Later, they moved to Missouri, with all their family, except Robert Houston Bebout, who married Miss Elizabeth Steinmetz, and lived in Pleasant Township, Knox Co., Ohio. He died at the age of 63 years.

William and Hannah Craig had thirteen children. Those not mentioned in this account lived and died in Washington Co., Pennsylvania.

Enoch and his wife moved on horseback in the spring of 1835, with their eldest child, from Pennsylvania to Ohio. They had eight children.
